POLITICAL SCIENCE

What can I do with this Major?

AREAS	EMPLOYERS	STRATEGIES
Government Public Policy Research Regional Planning City or Town Management Intelligence Foreign Service Law Enforcement Legislative, Executive or Judicial Services Program Administration	Federal, state and local governments	-Complete an internship in government or related area. -Serve in model United Nations. -Become involved in student government. -Participate in cross-cultural groups and organizations. -Write for campus publications focused on national and international affairs. -Develop skills in computers, statistics, and data analysis. -Acquire foreign language competency and travel experience for international positions. -Earn a graduate degree in political science or public administration for advancement. -Volunteer with the staff of a government official. -Participate in local or national campaigns. -For more information about salary, job outlook and general descriptions: http://www.bls.gov/ooh/
Law	Law firms Corporations Federal, state, and local government Private practice Special interest groups Universities	-Develop excellent research, writing, analysis, and communication skills. -Plan to attend law school and earn a law degree. -Obtain specialized certification for paralegal positions. -For more information about salary, job outlook and general descriptions: http://www.bls.gov/ooh/
Politics Elected or Appointed Leadership Campaign Management Staff Administration Special Interest Advocacy	Legislative, executive, or judicial officials National, state, or local government Political action committees Special interest groups Political parties Campaigns (national, state, or local)	-Volunteer for national or local campaigns. -Gain experience through internships in government. -Obtain leadership roles in campus organizations. -Become involved in campus political organizations, student government, campus publications, or community service projects. -Take courses in statistics, computer science, environmental protection, or public policy. -Develop a network of personal contacts. -Be prepared to begin a political career as a volunteer before moving to full-time or paid positions. -For more information about salary, job outlook and general descriptions: http://www.bls.gov/ooh/

Nonprofit Administration Management Public Relations Fundraising	Nonprofit organizations Foundations Professional associations Special interest groups	-Gain experience through volunteering or completing an internship. -Supplement curriculum with courses in business, psychology, sociology, or social work. -Obtain leadership roles in campus organizations. Develop strong written and oral communication skills. -Demonstrate knowledge and experience in a specialty area (e.g., public health, environment, urban issues). -For more information about salary, job outlook and general descriptions: http://www.bls.gov/ooh/
Business Sales Human Resources Management Advertising Public Relations	Product and service organizations Retail stores Hotels Restaurants Manufacturers Financial companies Insurance companies Print and electronic media Other business corporations	-Develop strong analytical, verbal, writing, and computer skills. -Acquire a business minor or add business as a double major. -Gain experience in an area of interest through internships or other employment. -Obtain leadership roles in campus organizations. -Demonstrate excellent interpersonal skills. -For more information about salary, job outlook and general descriptions: http://www.bls.gov/ooh/
Journalism Editing Reporting Circulation Sales	Newspapers (national, local, or trade) Wire services Magazines Internet sites Large corporations Political parties Political action committees	-Obtain summer or part-time work experience with a newspaper or magazine. -Complete an internship in journalism. -Choose writing intensive coursework. -Become proficient in desktop publishing and photography. -Develop excellent verbal and written communication skills. -Join the college newspaper, yearbook, or other publication staff. -Become a student member of professional associations. -Create a portfolio of published writing samples. -Obtain experience in and knowledge of a specialty area of interest. -For more information about salary, job outlook and general descriptions: http://www.bls.gov/ooh/

Broadcasting News Programming Production	Television stations (network, cable, or public) Radio stations (regional or national) Independent syndications	-Complete an internship in radio or television. -Experience in government or political affairs is usually required for specialized reporting positions. -Volunteer with public or campus media. -Develop strong reporting, writing, and debating skills. -Cultivate an attractive and appealing appearance. -Volunteer to announce local or campus sporting events. -Become involved in drama (i.e., direct, act, or work with technical crew). -For more information about salary, job outlook and general descriptions: http://www.bls.gov/ooh/
Education	Public schools Private schools Colleges and universities	-Obtain appropriate state teacher certification for public school opportunities. -Gain certification in more than one subject for greater marketability. -Earn a Ph.D. for college teaching or research positions. -Volunteer with community or church youth programs to gain experience working with children and adolescents. -Become involved in student organizations, debate, publications, government, and athletics. -For more information about salary, job outlook and general descriptions: http://www.bls.gov/ooh/

General Information:

An undergraduate degree in political science is good preparation for graduate or professional study in areas such as psychology, law, or business.
-Research the pre-requisites of the area of interest and tailor program of study to meet curricular and skill needs.
-Excellent verbal and written communication skills are imperative for most careers related to politics or government.
-Become familiar with the government application process for opportunities in federal, state, or local government.
-For careers in politics, be prepared to volunteer extensively before being hired or elected as an employee or official. Begin by working with the campaign or official of choice while in college.
-Many elected public officials begin careers in other fields (law, medicine, business) before campaigning for office.
-For more information on your major visit: http://www.onetonline.org/

Prepared by the Career Planning staff of Career Services at The University of Tennessee, Knoxville. (1992, Revised 1999, 2003, 2004)
UTK is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA Employer